foreword

Memories of my student days
I want to save in just this way,
And let them not go far away
But keep them tight in this array.

So if a memory would by fate
Slip away that I forsake,
This open book will again relate
My life that leads to Memories' gate.

In Memoriam

Doctor John Weaver Gordon died at the Clearfield Hospital at six P. M., December 19, 1944. Death was attributed to an embolism.

Doctor Gordon, son of the late Honorable and Mrs. Cyrus Gordon, was born in Clearfield, March 25, 1878. He attended State College Academy and Pennsylvania State College graduating from there in 1900 with highest honors, and from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1903 again carrying highest honors. In 1905 he opened an office in Clearfield where he practiced until his death. For a number of years, he limited his works to Obstetrics and Gynecology and was Chief of Staff at the Clearfield Hospital in those branches of surgery.

Doctor Gordon had high ideals and in contributing his services did not think of material gain. He was tolerant of those who disagreed with him and was never given to saying unkind things about others. He possessed a keen sense of humor and was liked by all who had contact with him.

Surgical and Medical Staff

The Staff of the Clevefield Hospital has suffered a great loss due to the recent death of John Weaver Gordon, our beloved head of Obstetrics and Gynecology, who served most ably for a number of years as Chief of that department.

The Staff also consists of new members, having been reduced by the enlistment of five of our members in the Armed Forces. They have managed to continue the high standard of treatment which has always characterized the work of the Clevefield Hospital. The Staff is anxiously looking toward the end of the war when our members namely: Miss Elsie Elbert, Miss Emma Smith, Capt. William Foss, Capt. Gerald Edward, and Capt. George Cavell, will return to our Staff.

Don't be just three years ago that 23 eager nursing girls were entertained at a tea which was held in honor of their entrance into the Clearfield Hospital School of Nursing? This day, September 8, 1941, was the turning point in their lives.

The following morning at 9.30 A. M., if you had been near the Dormitory where we "prayers" were now making our home, you would have heard the great ringing of quite a number of alarm clocks. After all chapel was to be held at 9.30 A. M. and we surely must not be late our first day! We dressed hurriedly and rushed to the chapel only to find no one else had arrived as yet. As the older students begin to arrive, we diligently pass as each new entered, we must have assembled a room full of sanyouga ka. After an impressive dinner service and a welcoming speech had been made by our director, Miss Smith, we followed our seniors to hospital.

At 8 A. M. found us in the classroom where we received annual books to cover our first year's work. It was during this first day that we had the pleasure of meeting Miss Gilliland and Miss Frost, who were to be our instructors, and it was this first day that proved to us that we had taken on a real job.

Time and attention concentrated during the following six months and mother's shoulder never felt more much to us. A great cry and a pat on the back, cleared the atmosphere and helped us on toward our first good Copping Day.

On March 5, 1943, we had the thrill of a life time when before an admiring audience of first nurses, we received our caps and pins. It was a question, who were the provider of the two, parents or students. Our own record was that we had lost one of our classmates, who had to leave because of ill health.

Up until this time we had not had much chance to do actual nursing, which had consisted of only three or four hours of their duty each Saturday morning. Now we were on duty eight hours a day and we began to feel like real nurses. Our troubles were still far from being over, however, for we found we were to be supervised in every nursing procedure before we could perform them ourselves. Many a steady hand became shaky and awkward under the watchful eye of Miss Frost, our instructor. At long last we mastered our books and felt we were well on our way toward becoming a graduate nurse. Little did we know!

Our next task was to take care of a floor on our own responsibility. Opportunity knocked and we began working "relief". We were frightened at the very thought of being left alone on duty. After a few nights, however, we began to think ourselves well experienced and accepted our responsibilities working out our own routines gracefully. We all had a certain fear of the doctors. But why, is hard to understand. Undoubtedly it was because we had no confidence in ourselves as yet and were so afraid of doing or saying something wrong in their presence that we usually succeeded in doing so. This uncertainty was overcome when we learned what they expected of us when we made rounds with them.

Our next thrill was not long in coming. We were to go on night duty. We felt like "practise" again and lost some of our new found confidence. But before long, we regained our confidence and learned the routine under the excellent supervision of Miss Harley.

It's the nurses in the Patients Ward

Delivering around the corner

Our night duty and our day duty varied. Our day duties: less long stretch. It's off to Maternity for us. Sure, we want to go but—we're being sent to an entirely different service and we must begin now. We now realize that service is a specialty, a new experience. When is that it was that great day when we saw our first delivery but what a wonder that when we were finally permitted to scrub for our first delivery. What we gained of ourselves when it was all over?

While serving in Maternity we came to know and respect Dr. John W. Gordon whose memory will always live bright with us.

Golly! did you see that operative schedule? It's our first day in the O. R. and our heads are in a whirl. Between learning to run the microscope, making solutions, and performing the routine setup for operations, we were slightly confused. We watch the older student calmly scrub for an operation, going through the solutions, slipping into her sterile gown, and helping the doctor dress. How very calmly she takes her place at the operating table as the operation begins. Some day—yes, some day we might be able to do the same, but we are a bit doubtful at the moment. As you have probably surmised we, too, were soon going smoothly along with our tasks. We must admit that we had a good many hectic moments before succeeding. The operating room has given us a lot of thrills and we've had fun. Now we wish we could stay, but we must move to a new service.

Children's Ward here we come! It's fun working here, but we were rather anxious about caring for little, helpless children. We soon overcome the feeling that the children would "kill" us if we touched them and we learned to hustle about our work as we had in the other wards in our hospital. It was amusing to hear some of the children calling us "mommy", but we were really concerned about our small patients. Here we found we must help our patients to occupy their time.

Cadet nurse! Cadet nurse! Every one is talking about the Cadets. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could be Cadets? And have you heard Cadets receive a monthly stipend, an article quite foreign to us. Not only do the Cadets receive that much envied stipend, but they also are permitted to spend their last six months of training in a Government Hospital, the first step towards military training. Thus, went the conversation in our Nurses' Home for several months. Then it happened—I really happened. We were to be given a chance to join the Corps. On February 14, 1944, at an impressive ceremony which took place in the Nurses' Residence, 25 members of the Senior Class took the Pledge of the United States Cadet Nurse Corps. By this time our class had down-lost to 12 members, six members leaving left for various reasons.

Working in the Pharmacy Department

The service in the Dietary Department followed. Our first assignment was make some Diabetic Omelet Muffins. We found the recipe and went diligently to work. In a few minutes the muffins were baked and then popped into the oven. A few minutes passed and the oven acted to reassure us that everything was coming along very well. It was time to take them out so we proudly took the beautifully raised and browned muffins from the oven. Everything was fine until we set them on the table and then suddenly something was wrong. Our muffins which at first had been just like so beautifully raised were now flat. Someone suggested that perhaps they hadn't baked long enough so we put them back into the oven. When we nervously peeked at them again, it was to find, much to our surprise, they again had risen to their original shape. We gently removed them from the oven and were only to see them again flatten and as though some one had stepped on them. At this point our nurse said, "If at first you don't succeed, try, again."

We shall never forget our three months' experience at Warren State Hospital where we studied our Psychiatric Nursing. We met other girls from other schools and we swapped stories and swapped about our own individual schools. The work here is altogether different from that which we had received up until this time. Instead of caring for two patients we usually had 100 under our watchful eye in one time. The work was interesting and adventurous. As our story there continued we realized the great work the doctors were doing. Our social calendar was quite full. Hobby Club and Sewing Club occupied a large part of our spare time. Some girls who hardly knew a knitting needle from an overgrown butter-knife had become experts. Others spent their time in bowling alleys, trying to see their figures as well as bowling strikes. When our three months were ended, there was not one among us who didn't look back longingly as we started the way back to our home school.

On August 25, 1945, we shall receive our diplomas. It is difficult to realize that our three years here are nearly finished and we will soon be parted from each other. Many times in those three years our language has been at low ebb but always our spirits rallied and with a triumphant sweep our training will be completed.

UNITED STATES CADET NURSE CORPS INDUCTION PLEDGE

At this moment of my induction into the United States Cadet Nurse Corps of the United States Public Health Service—

I am solemnly aware of the obligations I assume toward my country and toward my chosen profession.

I will follow faithfully the teachings of my instructors and the guidance of the physicians with whom I work.

I will hold in trust the finest traditions of nursing and the spirit of the Corps.

I will keep my body strong, my mind alert, and my heart steadfast.

I will be kind, tolerant and understanding.

Above all, I will dedicate myself now and forever to the triumph of life over death.

As a Cadet Nurse, I pledge to my country my service in essential nursing for the duration of the war.

United States Cadet Nurse Corps

In this hour of crisis when nurses are so badly needed we are proud that we have won the glory of the United States Cadet Nurse Corps.

The color and emblem of the Corps uniform all have a definite meaning—elements which add to the glory and honor of the Corps.

The gray of the uniform symbolizes purity, severity and understanding. Strength, courage and inspiration give way to the scarlet red epaulets.

These red epaulets must be present for us to succeed as nurses and as women.

The famous General "Misery" has lost his style to our gray dress.

The silver patch is a "passport" into the proud possession of nursing. Adopted as their own symbol by the Knights Hospitallers of St. John—the original nursing fighting order—this eight pointed white linen insignia was embroidered on the left sleeve of their black robes of brotherhood during the time of the first Crusade. Each of the cross' eight points represent one of the Brotherhoods from the Desert On the Mount.

The cap insignia makes every Cadet Nurse a member of the greatest humanitarian institution—The United States Public Health Service.

The shield and emblem are symbolically American; the shield emblem epitomizes the United States mission to disease its white cross the Marine Hospital where founded.

The Caduceus is the staff of nursing, messenger of the mythological gods as well as the universal symbol of the physicians. Together the cross and the caduceus promise healing to those in the service of their country.

Now we are half way in victory—a prayer of thanksgiving is on each and every one of our lips; however, the situation is still critical and we must attack our work with renewed determination not to relax our efforts until the day when final total victory is proclaimed.

"Penny Arcade"

The "Penny Arcade" one of the most successful of recent years was conducted by the Senior Class and held at the Hotel Home on May 26, 1930.

The Home was extensively decorated in lights, musical chairs and had many attractive booths. The booth that caught everyone's eye was the "Big Blind" which featured Dr. G. G. Martin.

We danced a penny and the Warming Well, made a walk and ventured on to enjoy the prizes at Blind, the Wheel of Fortune, the Penny Booth, Tasting Food, and Candy and Cake stands.

Once during the course of the evening we found ourselves seated in a dimly lighted room. There we learned our Past, Present, and Future told by a beautiful story teller.

Nine o'clock found everyone downstairs waiting for the curtain to rise on the fascinating entertainment program which featured the following: Dr. W. E. Bailey, master of ceremonies, Dr. A. I. Waterworth and Miss Maryanne Kline "gave out" with "solid" music from their harmoniums, and more heavenly music from Dr. M. J. Thompson and the singing altar.

"Gelling juice" refreshments were served in a nicely decorated dining room.

The evening ended with an offering of a variety of hymns. Hiss ran high for cigarettes, which were among the most popular items mentioned.

Then as the moon rose higher into the sky and the night grew older we gathered our memories of a happy evening spent and shared reluctantly on our homeward way, thanking the Centore for a very entertaining evening.

Student Government

For the students by the students —

We, the students, elected by our classmates, strive to encourage and promote all enterprises that tend to give harmony to our group and to further progress. We aim to encourage teamwork and good fellowship among our students and our leaders.

Members are chosen according to their personal maturity and wholeheartedness.

In order that we may have better understanding between faculty and students the Directors of Harrow, a faculty member, a supervisor, and an instructor are members of an Advisory Board.

Advisory Committee

A committee which takes an active interest in the activities of the student nurse is the School of Nursing Advisory Committee. This committee is composed of professional and laymen and laywomen who are vitally interested in the young women students of the school, their professional and social problems.

This committee meets monthly with the Director of the School and the Administrator of the Hospital and discusses problems of present and future activities of the students.

The members of the committee are:

The Junior Class

On September 3, 1943 the members of the present Junior Class were willing and able to undertake the duties of the noble profession—nursing.

The excellent weeks of deep concentration and sincere study at Indiana State Teachers College, which began on September 14, 1943, marked only the beginning of our education. We returned to Glenfield on January 23, 1944, and began our practical nursing care, and with the invaluable guidance and teachings of our instructors and doctors we proceeded nursing procedures.

We regret very much the loss of two of our classmates during our first year of training, but we are happy to announce the admission of a new member in our second year, leaving a total of seventeen students.

The members of the Class of 1946 belong to the United States Cadet Nurse Corps, one hundred per cent, and we are proud of our membership. We are very greatly interested in the special training we are now receiving, and also in that which we shall receive in the future.

Our heartiest congratulations are extended to the members of the Senior Class for the good work they have done during the last three years. We will do our utmost to maintain the standards they have attained and hope that we will as successfully reach the ultimate goal in nursing.

The Freshman Class

A most vivid one in the minds of the freshman class, September 4, 1944, marked the beginning of a new and unknown path before us.

After a howling week of strange faces, words, places, and other surroundings of a new environment, we again packed our baggage and sped away to Indiana State Teachers' College for a semester of intense pre-clinical study.

Under the guidance of our beloved co-ordinator of nurses at Indiana, Mrs. John H. Dunn, we successfully survived the studies and stored away in memory many happy moments which will never be forgotten.

Deep in the middle of winter, the class of 1945, under the leadership of Sarah J. Guiner, president; Dorothy Graham, vice president; Lorene P. Melrose, secretary; and June L. Farwell, historian, returned to the Clearfield Hospital to take up the next phase of the nursing career.

After having been duly initiated into the rank of freshmen via berry buns and shoe polish, we proudly donned our student "stripes" and, despite the absence of the cap and bib stepped forth in a professional manner upon the wards.

The night that will be remembered by every freshman nurse, February 28, 1945, we received our caps. By having met the requirements thus far and having taken the solemn Florence Nightingale Pledge, was earned the right to be called student nurses of the Clearfield Hospital.

Splendidly arrayed in the attractive gray and red outdoor uniforms for the first time, we paraded through Clearfield to the Senior High School, May 12, 1945, to be inducted, at a special program, into the United States Cadet Nurse Corps.

So, with the conclusion of classes for the summer and the prospect of night duty before us, we quietly draw to the close of our first tumultuous twelve months as underclassmen of the Clearfield School of Nursing.

The Nurses Alumnae Association of the Clearfield Hospital

The Alumnae Association of the Clearfield Hospital School of Nursing was first organized in 1912. The aims of the Association were to unify the graduates for mutual help and improvement, to promote fellowship among its members and to advance the best interests of the Nursing Profession.

During the latter part of World War I the Alumnae became inactive but in March 1923 they reorganized and the association was called the Nurses' Alumnae Association of the Clearfield Hospital. Purpose: Sec. I for mutual help and improvement in professional work and for the promotion of good fellowship among the graduates of the School. Sec. II for the advancement of the interests of the Clearfield Hospital Training School for Nurses. Sec. III in cooperation with the District Association No. 3 of the Graduate Nurses' Association to work for the Educational Advancement of Nursing.

The group activity and the individual service represented by the Alumnae Association, establishing a community and securing a better understanding of nursing problems are tangible values but what each Alumnae member fondly recalls is the unity of purpose of the association.

Our association boasts of the original plan of Life membership, by which each member after twenty-five years membership becomes an honorary life member. Thus far this honor has been bestowed upon six members.

Our Mother Daughter membership exists, that of Mrs. Ethel Fuller Graham and Miss Doris Graham.

The Alumnae Association honor roll proudly displays eight names from World War I and thirty three members are now represented on the magnificent roster of World War II.

The Alumnae Association is represented on the Advisory Committee of the School of Nursing.

A hospital room was furnished and maintained by the Alumnae Association.

The Association publishes a "Bulletin" which serves to bridge the distances between alumnae members, and particularly since the demands of War have widened these distances.

A happy contact with the School of Nursing is nurtured by small but helpful gestures but the Association's interest in the School's welfare "extends far beyond the line of duty."

A Nurse's Prayer

Because the day has sometimes not for me
Is full of busy hours, I come to Thee
To ask Thee, Lord, that Thou wilt see me through
The many things that I may have to do.
Help me to make my hands the smoothest way,
Help me to make some waiting every day,
Help me to serve when pain must have relief,
Help me to deal with those some driven by grief,
Help me to take to every patient's hand
The Light of Life to brightness in the gloom.
Help me to love by every soul in here
The kind and sweetest thought that Thou art near,
And if today or if tonight, maybe
Some patients to my care are not to see
To have the great adventure we will death,
Baptize them, Father, in their perilous hour,
Help me to live throughout this dwelling day
As one who loves Thee well, dear Lord, I pray;
And when the day is done and evening stars
Shine through the dark above the sunset bars
When weary quite I turn to seek my rest,
Lord, may I truly know I've done my best.
